ELDERLY HOUSING STUDY AVAILABLE

Monroe County Executive Jack Doyle today announced the publication of the 1999 Elderly Housing Study, a collaborative project of the Monroe County Office for the Aging and the Department of Planning and Development. The report was published at the recommendation of the County of Monroe Mature Adults Commission Report (COMMAC) Aging Well.

This study updates the 1989 Elderly Housing Study and is an attempt to bring together available resources for addressing housing alternatives and opportunities for the county's elderly citizens.

For further information about this report, call the Office for the Aging at (716) 428-4949.
